With a very little outlay a suitable receptacle can be made for receiving these house-slops, which are allowed to go to waste by so many. One method recommended by a friend, is to set an oil cask on the north side of your house In July previous to the advance under the spout, and cover it with a lid. A little charcoal thrown in once a week will prevent all unpleasant smells. From this tank the wash can than has been paid in market since, and having CHAMBERLIN & CO., be conveniently applied every few days to eucumbers, melons, squashes, raspberries, grape vines, &c. Another plan pursued successfully, is to con-CLOTHING duct the slops into a vault where they will be absorbed by muck, leaves and other suitable ingredients of a compost heap. THE DISCORD OF THE AGE .-- The great discord between the head and the heart, between intellect and faith, is the predominant characteristic of the bought for cash, and for sale as low as can be afforded. age. Old forms of thought are failing. Wherever faith finds a foothold, the intellect comes prying, doubting, and disturbing. The age is accused of any dairyman who has had ice to use materialism. But the discord is not with infidels and materialists alone. It runs far back into the very heart of the church. This restless search, this DYE STUFFS, DYE WOODS, unsatisfied longing, this hurrying discord, can have but one solution. The song that the shepherd boy sings in ice will melt it as fast as water poured the Saul of Robert Browning to the disquieted king, is the only music that can soothe the troubled spirit of the Farmers' Foonomy.—Farmers talk a present.
